

AUSTIN FRUITS

SPEAKER

Austin is a Christian speaker and content creator empowered and equipped to impact a struggling and searching generation with the good news of Jesus Christ.

With a passion for apologetics, evangelism, and wholeness, Austin provides a relevant and authentic voice. After graduating with a degree in Psychology and Counseling, Austin served as Josh McDowell's personal assistant, traveling to 14 countries and speaking to thousands. A recent graduate of Talbot School of Theology, Austin has spoken around the United States and abroad to various audiences on the truth, beauty and goodness of the Christian faith

Austin is available to speak on these topics:

Has the Bible Been Changed? | Disarming Doubts | Why Facts and Logic Don't Change Peoples Minds | Finding Freedom from Pornography | Who did Jesus claim to be? | The Resurrection and You

LEARN MORE ABOUT AUSTIN:

"I heartily recommend Austin to those desiring to receive a timely and relevant presentation of the defense of Christianity for any age group, but specifically for the younger generations."

-Dr. Tim Robnett, President, ETeam Global

Austin came to speak to my senior class about a career in ministry. He was engaging and relatable with all of the students. I noticed he had a powerful impact on my classmates because of his vulnerability. I was encouraged in my own faith after hearing his story.

-Lauren

Blog: austinfruits.comblog-2

Websites: austinfruits.com | josh.org/austin-fruits

Austin has a Master of Theology from the Talbot School of Theology, Biola University and a Bachelor of Psychology and Counseling from Liberty University.

